GENERAL ROLLOVER INFORMATION

Rollover Eligible Plans and Distributions
You are receiving this notice because all or a portion of your DROP payment from the Florida Retirement System (FRS) Pension Plan is eligible to be rolled over into one of the eligible Plans listed below:

- IRA: Traditional, Roth (non-designated), Inherited Traditional or Roth, and SEP
- Eligible Employer Plans: 457(b) government Plans, pre-tax 403(b) and qualified plans

FRS cannot make a DROP payment until you have terminated your FRS employment and for at least 30 days after you receive this notice. After you receive this notice, you have 30 days to select your payout option. However, you may waive this notice period by indicating your payout method on the required payout form. Your distribution will be processed accordingly as soon as possible after your employment ends.

Only the FRS DROP payment and pre-taxed refunds are eligible to be rolled over, not the FRS distributions listed below:

- Monthly FRS Plan benefit payments, including continued beneficiary payments
- Required minimum distributions after age 70½ (or after death).

Payment Options
The required FRS DROP Selected Payout Method Form (DP-PAYT) has three payout options. You can select a direct rollover into an eligible plan, select a lump sum payment, or select a partial lump sum payment and to roll over the remaining balance.

A direct rollover election means the FRS will send the DROP payment directly to your selected eligible plan. Once the amount is rolled over, it becomes subject to the receiving plan’s tax rules.

A lump sum election means the FRS will send the DROP payment directly to you, minus 20 percent as required for federal withholding taxes.

A partial lump sum election means the FRS will send a portion of your total DROP balance as a lump sum to you, minus the 20 percent federal withholding taxes. FRS will send the remaining portion as a direct rollover to an eligible plan, subject to that plan’s tax rules.

If, after you receive a lump sum DROP payment, you decide to roll some or all of this payment into an eligible plan, you have 60 days from the payment date to complete the rollover. You should roll over the entire pre-taxed (100 percent) gross amount into a pre-tax eligible plan, or you will have to pay federal income taxes on the difference. This means you would have to pay the 20 percent you did not receive due to the required lump sum withholding taxes. However, this amount may be recovered when you file your annual tax return.

For example: Let’s say your gross (pre-tax) DROP balance is $10,000 and you choose to have the FRS pay the entire amount directly to you as a lump sum payment. The FRS withholds 20 percent, or $2,000, and you’ll receive a check for the net (after-tax) amount of $8,000. If you then choose to roll your DROP distribution into a pre-tax eligible plan (taxed upon taking a distribution), to avoid any income taxes, you’ll need to deposit the entire gross (pre-tax) amount of $10,000. Any amount less than the gross (original) DROP balance is considered taxable income in the year the payment was made. Also, you may be subject to an additional 10 percent tax for early distributions (see below). Depending on your annual tax return calculations, the IRS may refund you the 20 percent tax withholdings.

Any after-tax employee contributions made to the FRS Plan are not taxable and will be paid directly to you, in accordance with the IRS’ Simplified Method calculation, formerly referred to as the Simplified General Rule (SGR).

Note: If you miss the 60-day rollover deadline, the IRS may waive the deadline under certain extraordinary... circumstances, such as external events preventing you from completing the rollover by the 60-day deadline. To apply for a waiver, you must file a private letter ruling request with the IRS, which includes a nonrefundable user fee. For more information see IRS Publication 590, Individual Retirement Arrangements (IRAs).

Tax Affects
A direct rollover of your FRS DROP payment is normally tax free, unless you choose to roll it into an after tax eligible plan (Roth IRA – see below). For all direct rollover selections, the FRS withholds 0 percent for taxes. For a lump sum payment, the FRS will subtract 20 percent for federal withholding taxes, even if you choose to roll it over into an eligible plan within 60 days of the payment.

In addition, if you are younger than age 59\(\frac{1}{2}\), your DROP payout is considered an "early distribution." This means you are still responsible for the additional 10 percent early distribution penalty paid to the IRS, even though your rollover election may not have withheld any taxes. This is the case unless one of these exceptions applies:

- Payments made after you separate from service if you will be at least age 55 when you separate;
- Payments made after you separate from service if you are a public safety employee and you are at least age 50 when you separate;
- Payments that start after you separate from service if paid at least once a year in equal or close to equal amounts over your life or life expectancy (or the lives or joint life expectancy of you and your beneficiary);
- Payments after your death;
- Payments made directly to the government to satisfy a federal tax levy;
- Payments made under a Qualified Domestic Relations Order (QDRO).

Rollover into a Roth IRA
You can roll your FRS DROP payment over to an after-tax Roth IRA (excluding designated Roth accounts) and choose 0 percent (the default), 10 percent or 20 percent federal withholding taxes on the DP-PAYT Form. Early distribution penalties will not apply unless you take the amount rolled over out of the Roth IRA within five years, starting from January 1 of the year you made the rollover.

Starting in 2011, the IRS allows you to spread out the federal taxes you owe for payments rolled into a ROTH IRA during 2010 over a two-year period. If you roll over the payment to a Roth IRA, later payments from the Roth IRA that are qualified distributions will not be taxed (including earnings after the rollover). A qualified distribution from a Roth IRA is a payment made after age 59\(\frac{1}{2}\) (or after your death or disability, or as a qualified first-time homebuyer distribution of up to $10,000) and after you have had a Roth IRA for at least five years. This five-year rule begins January 1 of the year for you first contribute to a Roth IRA.

You do not have to take required minimum distributions from a Roth IRA during your lifetime. For more information see IRS Publication 590, Individual Retirement Arrangements (IRAs).

SPECIAL RULES

Required Minimum Distribution (RMD)
If you turned 70\(\frac{1}{2}\) years of age before terminating DROP employment, the FRS will pay you the RMD mandated by the IRS. Your RMD amount is your pre-tax FRS DROP accumulated balance minus the required 10 percent federal income withholding taxes. Minimum distributions do not apply to members while participating in the FRS DROP.

Born on or before January 1, 1936
If you were born on or before January 1, 1936, and receive a lump sum distribution that you do not roll over, special rules for calculating the amount of the tax on the payment might apply to you. For more information see IRS Publication 575, Pension and Annuity Income.

Payments under a Qualified Domestic Relations Order (QDRO)
If you are the spouse or former spouse of the participant who receives a DROP payment from the FRS under a QDRO, you generally have the same options the participant would have. For example, you may roll over the payment to your own IRA or an eligible employer plan that will accept it. Payments under the QDRO are not subject to the 10 percent additional income tax on early distributions.

Nonresident Alien
If you are a nonresident alien and do not select a direct rollover of your DROP payments to a U.S. IRA or U.S. employer plan, then instead of withholding the standard 20 percent, the FRS Plan is required to withhold 30 percent of the payment for federal income taxes. For more information see IRS Publication 519, U.S. Tax Guide for Aliens, and IRS Publication 515, Withholding of Tax on Nonresident Aliens and Foreign Entities.

BENEFICIARY INFORMATION

Payments to Surviving Spouse
If your spouse is a deceased participant, and you as survivor receive the DROP payment from the FRS, you have the same rollover options that were available to your spouse (described previously in this document). In addition, if you choose to roll over to an IRA, you may treat the IRA as your own or as an inherited IRA.

An IRA you treat as your own is treated like any other IRA. Payments made to you before you are age 59½ will be subject to the 10 percent additional income tax on early distributions (unless an exception applies) and required minimum distributions from your IRA do not have to start until after you are age 70½.

If you treat the IRA as an inherited IRA, payments from the IRA will not be subject to the 10 percent additional income tax on early distributions, but will be subject to the required minimum distribution rules based on the member’s date of birth.

Payments to Other Beneficiaries
If you are entitled to a DROP payment from the FRS because of the participant’s death and you are a designated beneficiary other than a surviving spouse, you may roll over the benefit directly to an inherited IRA, or receive a lump sum payment. Rollovers to an inherited IRA are subject to the required minimum distribution rules.

If you choose not to roll over the DROP distribution, the amount will be taxed in the same manner described elsewhere in this notice. However, the 10 percent additional income tax on early distributions and the special rules for public safety officers do not apply. The special rule described under the section “If you were born on or before January 1, 1936” applies only if the participant was born on or before January 1, 1936.
